

SUNDAY,
MAY 31, 1958

THE JERUSALEM POST

PRICE: 150 PRUTA
VOL. XXXV, No. 3454

MARGINAL COLUMN

By NISSIM REJWAN

Dag Sees Tekoah On Suez Canal Issue

By JESSE ZEL LURIE, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

REPORTS emanating from Cairo and Beirut last week were persistent in talking of a change of policy on the part of Colonel Nasser. This change, which some observers have termed "a sharp reappraisal of policy," in the main concerns Cairo's attitude towards General Kaesem's Government, although it can incidentally be expected to bring about a détente in internal relations. What seems to have been at the basis of these speculations is a letter, described as private and personal, which Nasser is said to have sent to Kaesem proposing that the two let bygones be bygones and concentrate their joint efforts on fighting the threat posed by Communists to the revolution. It is highly interesting, however, that round about this same time Cairo ceased its attacks on the Soviet Union and now seems to consider the matter settled.

NASSER's change of tactics, if such it be, coincides further with the increasingly stern attitude which General Kaesem has taken in his vis-à-vis of the Iraqi Communists. Kaesem's insistence that political parties would be harmful to Iraq during the so-called transition period has already led the Communist Party to drop its demand for representation in the next move which was accelerated by the decision of the National Democratic Party to cease all its activities in compliance with the Prime Minister's wishes. Although Nasser did not lack proof that Kaesem was no Communist himself, this new development has been used by Cairo as an excuse for an alleged change of line on Kaesem, who is now offered disinterested help in his quarrel with the Communists.

IT is not very difficult to guess the real motives behind Cairo's change of tactics. Nasser no doubt knew all along that Kaesem's only fear has been Egyptian hegemony over Iraq, which makes an immediate threat to the country's independence, and that his encouragement of the Communists had only one purpose — to thwart Nasser's repeated attempts to merge Iraq with the United Arab Republic. Now that Kaesem feels strong enough to challenge the Egyptians, he is doing so quite "freely" — a fact which places Cairo in a pretty difficult position: after all, the Egyptians' main excuse for attacking Kaesem was the allegation that he was a tool in the hands of the Communists.

IT would be wrong, however, to suggest that it is mainly a matter of decimalism and consistency: far more than meets the eye may be involved in the alleged reappraisal. If successful, the manoeuvre — for it is nothing but that — can bring Nasser two very desirable results. In the first place, should Kaesem agree to cooperate with him against the Communists, and should these be materially weakened as a result, Kaesem's position will become greatly weakened vis-à-vis whatever Nasserist elements are still in Iraq, thus paving the way for Cairo's second role in Baghdad, although it may sound paradoxical, the fact that Kaesem is still in no mood to deal the Communists a really effective blow, even should he be in a position to do so; for it is doubtful whether, without the Communists' valuable help, Nasser can face a possible Nasserist attempt on his regime.

IN the second place — and this seems to be even more important for Nasser at the present juncture — an anti-Communist drive on Kaesem's part may beget his relations with Moscow and restore Nasser as the Kremlin's main agent in the Arab world. (Khrushchev's proclamation on Nasser last year as the leader of a united Arab world must still be vivid in the latter's memory.) It may even produce a state of affairs where Nasser would get Moscow's help in his struggle against Kaesem. Jerusalem, May 31.

Jordan Wants Seat on Security Council

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters) — Jordan on Saturday announced its candidacy for the Security Council seat, which Tunisia is relinquishing next January 31. The General Assembly will

ATTENTION DELEGATES OF THE B'NAI B'RITH CONVENTION, TOURISTS AND ISRAELI RAVELLERS

Save money and buy Israeli set diamond jewellery and famous Swiss watches: Eterna, Marvin, Universal, Omega, Girard-Perregaux, La Coultre, Vacheron-Constantin, Juvenia and other makes at Lod Airport. After terminating your passport and customs formalities and before boarding your plane, visit the DUTY FREE SHOP in the Exit Hall. Only foreign currency accepted.

Israel Becomes 41st Member Of GATT by 32-1

By JESSE ZEL LURIE, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

Despite the Memorial Day holida y morning received the Israeli delegate, Mr. Yosef

Koehan, who transmitted an urgent message from Jeru

BULLETIN: — The Inge Toft, which has been detained at Port Said since May 21.

The Inge Toft was carrying a cargo of Israel potash, phosphates, and scrap brass from Haifa to the Far East.

Details of the meeting were not disclosed here.

Our Diplomatic Correspondent writes:

The Cabinet on Sunday (today) is to hear a report on last week's diplomatic activities on the Suez Canal blockade. It is expected to make up the gap between the two-day meeting as well as the contacts made by Israel with member states of the Security Council.

It is not expected to adopt a final decision because, until Saturday evening, there was still no official confirmation from Cairo of the Inge Toft's release.

The Cabinet will also discuss the Salomon Committee's report on road accidents, and, at the request of the Minister of Interior, take measures to ameliorate the situation of the Yarkon River.

Reports of the Massada Safety Committee and the Ministry Committee on Youth Movements may be heard at the meeting.

Treasury Approves Plan To Purify Yarkon

A plan to divert sewage water from that stretch of the Yarkon River which runs through the populated sections of the Dan Region has been approved by the Ministry of Finance, as a temporary solution to the problem of the river's pollution, the Ministry spokesman announced last night.

The scheme, suggested by a Tahal official, will be presented to the relevant Government authorities. It is estimated that the project would cost 110,000,000 lira and would show results within a few weeks.

The plan is intended as a temporary measure to relieve the present nuisance to residents in the area, until the Gush Dan sewage network is completed.

Israel-Syrian Border Marking Party Due

Israeli, Syrian, and U.N. representatives are to meet on Wednesday on the Israel-Syrian border to discuss technical aspects of the marking of the international border, the U.N. spokesman told The Jerusalem Post on Saturday.

The scheme, suggested by a Tahal official, will be presented to the relevant Government authorities. It is estimated that the project would cost 110,000,000 lira and would show results within a few weeks.

The plan is intended as a temporary measure to relieve the present nuisance to residents in the area, until the Gush Dan sewage network is completed.

Big Uruguayan Welcome for Meir

MONTEVIDEO (INA). — The Israeli Foreign Minister was greeted by thousands of persons waving flags, and a salute of 21 guns when she arrived here from Buenos Aires aboard a Uruguayan military plane as a guest of the Uruguayan Government.

Accompanied by Mr. Arieh Ben-Nathan, head of the Israeli embassy in Montevideo, Mrs. Golda Meir was greeted by Foreign Minister Homero Martínez Montero. Later she was received by the President of the National Council (Government), Dr. Martin Echegoyen, who said: "Israel is very dear to our hearts."

The plane is still being held at Montevideo.

Mrs. Meir opened a two-day conference here of Israeli envoys in Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, Peru, Brazil, and Venezuela.

Ben-Nathan Returning To Succeed Peres

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Mr. Asher Ben-Nathan, head of the Defence Ministry mission in Europe, is on his way back to Israel from France, reportedly to take over as Minister of Defense in place of Mr. Shimon Peres.

According to well-informed sources, Mr. Peres will go into active politics in the Mapai party after Mr. Ben-Nathan takes over.

Mr. Ben-Nathan has held his present post since March 1957. However, he entered Ministry employ six months earlier, and had been a regular "Tel Aviv-Paris committee." He had previously worked for the Indo-Asian Packing Company in Jibuti. He is 39 and Vienese-born.

The Throne That Hangs on a Smile

BRUSSELS (Reuter). — King Baudouin, whose reign has been marred by a "palace crisis," is expected to give a "new look" to his nation's relations with the monarchy when he returns on Monday from his North American tour.

His first move will be to receive the press on Tuesday morning — less than 24 hours after his arrival — bringing a big break in royal tradition.

Previously the only occasions for meetings between the press as a whole and the Sovereign were annual gala performances and then the king has been described as showing a "bored face."

Le Roi Malgré-Lui

Despite the long-reaching "palace revolution" which has occurred during his absence, Belgians are hoping the 28-year-old king will maintain the new smiling character he seems to have developed during his American tour.

King Leopold, his stepmother, Princess Liliane, and "todying courtiers."

As the political storm over the Vatican marriage plans of Prince Albert (Baudouin) and the Italian Princess Paola Ruffo di Calabria raged this week, ex-king Leopold announced his intention to leave the royal palace, where he has lived since his abdication eight years ago.

The ex-king was accused of overstepping his son and meddling in state affairs, and was also blamed for the Vatican marriage muddle.

A royal politician said: "The nation might no longer accept an angry young king."

On arriving in Belgium the king will take up possession of the royal palace of Laken for the first time.

Two weeks ago, as the young monarch charmed Americans with his relaxed and smiling attitude, a wide press campaign was launched against the "undue" influence of his father, 59-year-old ex-

85 Die in Java Train Smash

By JAKARTA (Reuter).

Eighty-five persons were killed and 47 injured when a passenger train plunged into a ravine in the Dutch East Indies Regency of West Java, a military spokesman announced yesterday.

An official said a coupling between the engine and the rest of the train had snapped and passenger cars had fallen into a ravine.

The accident occurred with ravines hundreds of feet deep and the railway winds up razor-back ridges which in some places seem almost perpendicular.

The delegate of Indonesia, who voted against Israel, declared that his vote was on a matter of principle. Palestine sustained a greater disaster, an Arab League attempt to force GATT to reject Israel's application had failed.

Israel will not have voting power, although her delegate will participate in all meetings of the organization. She has applied for a temporary mutual arrangement providing the opening of the world market in September, 1960. This has yet to be considered by GATT.

Mr. Moshe Barur, Assistant Director-General of the Israel Foreign Ministry, told the session: "We regard this as an important stepping stone in the evolution of Israel's policy, which we are certain will lead to the expansion of our trade and economic relations with the countries of the world."

A U.N. officer and the Israeli liaison office with the Mixed Armistice Commission investigated the damage.

The Syrians committed similar sabotage a year ago, and previously, at the same time and in the same area, they had been making a contribution."

U.K. Envoy Notes Improved Relations

TEL AVIV. — Relations between Britain and Israel have progressed to the stage where the two countries may speak frankly without offending one another, "even to disagreement with friendship," the outgoing British Ambassador Sir Francis Randall told the members of the weekly luncheon of the Commercial and Industrial Club.

It was "important" to all right-minded people "to maintain the growing understanding and trade between Britain and Israel," he said.

In greeting the guest speaker, Dr. A. Rojansky, President of the Club, said the incidents at one time overshadowed Anglo-Israeli relations were now forgotten.

Dr. Rojansky said that he and Lady Randall had been fascinated "to watch the people of Israel integrating in their old land. They all have something to do, something to create."

All former representatives of his country here have maintained their interest in Israel, he said, explaining that they would do so only if the plane were also released.

The plane is still being held at Haifa.

The pilot's name has been given as Gabrieli Rivat. His Lebanese co-pilot is Adjutant Yair Soskin.

The Mixed Armistice Commission meeting on the incident has been suspended while the U.N. Chairman studies it further.

Lebanese Crew Returned Home

Jerusalem Post Reporter

NAHARIYA. — The Israeli

and the four Lebanese

crew of the Lebanese Air

Force plane forced to land at Haifa last Wednesday after having sprung a leak.

Four crew members were among those present.

The men were handed over at Rosh Hanikra, in U.N. Observers who took them into Lebanon. The Lebanese authorities had refused to accept the men direct from Israel customs, and had insisted that they would do so only if the plane was also released.

The plane is still being held at Haifa.

The pilot's name has been given as Gabrieli Rivat. His Lebanese co-pilot is Adjutant Yair Soskin.

The Mixed Armistice Commission meeting on the incident has been suspended while the U.N. Chairman studies it further.

Haifa Hapoel Beats Belgians 1-0

HAIFA. — Haifa Hapoel defeated the Belgian football

champions, Royal Standard of Liege, by 1-0 at the City

Stadium on Saturday, with the visitors denied, at least, a draw through being consistently dogged by bad luck. The first half was scoreless.

The tall, fleet Belgians impressed 6,000 spectators with their low passes from short

and long distances, but luck

apparently deserted them in front of the 10,000 spectators.

Twice they hit the crossbar,

and on three occasions the

Hapoel backs managed to stop the ball right at the goal

line after it had gone past

Bortell, the goalkeeper.

The tall, fleet Belgians impressed 6,000 spectators with their low passes from short

and long distances, but luck

apparently deserted them in front of the 10,000 spectators.

Twice they hit the crossbar,

and on three occasions the

Hapoel backs managed to

stop the ball right at the goal

line after it had gone past

Bortell, the goalkeeper.

The tall, fleet Belgians impressed

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post

May 31, 1959

In the Supreme Court Sitting as Court of Civil Appeals

Before the President (Justice Oshani), Justices Silberg and Berinson.

Henry Charles Weston Saunders, Esq., Appellant.
Levi-Ullman, Respondent.

(C.A. 292-57)

No Malice in Privileged Libel of Defendant Believed It to Be True

The Supreme Court dismissed two appeals against a judgment of the Haifa District Court delivered on September 16, 1957 (in C.C. No. 292-57).

Mr. Saunders, who is an advocate, performed various services for Mrs. Ullman. At first there had existed a close friendship between Mr. Saunders and Mrs. Ullman. A sudden change occurred in latter's attitude when she was presented with a bill for Mr. Saunders' services. She then started writing letters to various people in which she levelled a variety of libellous accusations against Mr. Saunders. Amongst those to whom she wrote were the Attorney-General, the British Consul in Haifa, the Haifa District Attorney, the Minister of Justice, and Mr. E. Shafir. Mr. George Shapiro and Mr. Eytan Shafrir. She received letters from Mr. and Mrs. R. Krasner and Mr. and Mrs. N. Gurdus.

Mrs. Chain Weizmann yesterday entertained to luncheon Baron and Baroness Edmond de Rothschild, Mme. Pollack and Mme. Marcel Meier, M. Francois Pereire, Mr. George Shapiro and Mr. Eytan Shafrir. She received letters from Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bisgayer and Prof. and Mrs. Walter Lowdermilk.

The French Ambassador, M. Pierre Gilbert, on Friday evening entertained to dinner the Baron and Baroness Edmond de Rothschild.

Mrs. Rebecca Schiff, President of World Wizo, entertained to luncheon on Saturday the Ambassadors of Britain, France and Italy, at her home in Tel Mond.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Shorover gave a reception at their home in Jerusalem on Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Douglas. Among the guests were the Mayor of Jerusalem, the Director-General of the Foreign Ministry, the Chief of Staff of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, the U.S. Consul-General, the Army Commander of the Jerusalem District, and many other friends.

Visitors to the Hebrew University on Friday included Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shane, Mrs. Shan and Mrs. Lina Halperin of London, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Zeitz of New York.

Dr. Miriam Freindorf, National President of Hadassah, and other Hadassah leaders were among the guests to dinner on Friday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ernst Neenzahl in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Chaya Sircin, President of the Pioneer Women of the U.S. and Canada, and Dr. Sarla Feder, past President, arrived in Israel to attend meetings of the Zionist General Council and to consult with the Secretary of the Working Women's Council.

A Soiree Literaire devoted to the work of the French poet René Char, and attended by some fifty members of the Jerusalem French-speaking community, was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Szczepak. An introductory talk on the poet was given by M. Mindlin, literary editor of The Jerusalem Post. Mrs. Yvette Szczepak, the wife of Mr. Szczepak, the editor of "Renaissance," read selections from Char's verse, and a live concert recording of Pierre Boulez's "Le Marteau sans Malice" (set to poems by René Char) was played, the work not yet having been performed in Israel.

The Polish Painter Monica Zermansky, who is visiting Israel as a guest of the Israel-Poland Friendship League, was last week received by Mr. Reuven Barak, head of the Histadrut Political Department, and Mr. B. Shaike of the Merkaz Letarbut.

Dr. Ermine Sternlieb, of the Albert Einstein Medical College, New York, will lecture on "Copper Metabolism in Hepatic Disease" at 7:45 p.m. today in Lecture Hall "B" of the Hebrew University-Hadassah Medical School.

No Tax Exemption For Solo Foreign Artists

Performances featuring foreign artists not accompanied by local performers will henceforth not enjoy exemption from entertainment tax, according to new regulations gazetted last week. The regulations also cancel tax exemptions for tickets to performances, concerts or sports events which also include admittance to parties.

ISRAEL NATIONAL OPERA
Opera House
1 Allenby Rd., Tel Aviv
Madame Butterfly
Conductor: Ernest Faldi
T. 03-211-1000, M. 03-211-1000
Sunday, June 14Barber of Seville
with MARILYN TYLER
Conductor: Franklin Chase
Mon., June 15 - Wed., June 17
T. 03-211-1000, M. 03-211-1000LA TRAVIATA
Sat., June 6, Sat., June 13
FEDERICO
T. 03-211-1000, M. 03-211-1000
DON PASQUALE
Monday, June 16All performances start at 8:30 p.m.
Tickets at the Box Office
60-L-4-8, Tel. 27780.Service for Israel Tourists Abroad

The British firm of City General Exporters & Importers has introduced a special service to meet the demand for gifts by Israeli tourists and businessmen for despatch to their relatives and friends in Israel.

Israelis in London wishing to avail themselves of this service are granted considerable tourist discounts.

Tel. 68 on the seashore

ATTENTION TOURISTS!

After your strenuous tour in the country stay with us for a few restful days.

Modest modern comfort - Moderate rates.
We still have a few vacancies for short-term party reservations requested.

Metropol Hotel Natanya

Tel. 68 on the seashore

ATTENTION TOURISTS!

After your strenuous tour in the country stay with us for a few restful days.

Modest modern comfort - Moderate rates.
We still have a few vacancies for short-term party reservations requested.

VISITORS' GALLERY: Irving Fineman

In Search of Henrietta Szold

A psychological study of the late Henrietta Szold is being pieced together in Jerusalem. The researcher is Mr. Irving Fineman, an American author with half a dozen books to his credit. He began his search for information on Miss Szold in her home town of Baltimore, then jumped to New York, where he found her headquarters and now is sifting the reams of material at the Zionist Archives in Jerusalem.

He finds that her own writings and speeches give him a greater insight into her psychological make-up and character than does interviewing persons who knew her.

For most of the latter work he is up to date, the defendant is an objective test he applied then the inevitable conclusion would be that the appellant had succeeded in proving that the publication of the defamatory statement was not in good faith.

The question of good faith and malice, he said, arises in two cases: first, when the defendant does not plead qualified privilege; and, secondly, when the defendant believes in good faith and without malice that his publication was true. The only effect of this nature might have is on the amount of damages awarded.

In the second case, however, the law refusing to recognize the plea that the defendant believed in good faith and without malice, it is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

It is proved that the defamatory statement is untrue, the defendant may still benefit from the plea of qualified privilege as long as the publication was made in any of the circumstances mentioned above.

Mizrahi Women's Organization of America invite you to tour their projects and visit their tourist clubs at:

TEL AVIV: 16 Dov Am St 20181
JERUSALEM: 60 Rehov Tel 20446
HAIFA: 25 Arlosoroff St 6231

'Better Understanding of U.S. Jews' is Theme of 16 Meetings

Zionist Council Meets Today

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S. Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American Executive of the World Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and Canadians in Israel and municipalities and local councils.

Addressing a gathering in Jerusalem's Orgel Hall, Mayor Gershon Agran pointed out that 70 per cent of both American and Canadian Jews were native born and know little Hebrew or Yiddish.

Mr. Bernard Cherrick, Executive Vice-Chairman of the Hebrew Union College Board of Governors, said that Israel had little first-hand knowledge of American Jewry and until there was more understanding it would be difficult to reach them culturally.

Other prominent Israelis criticized Israeli attitudes towards the Diaspora at a gathering held at the Z.O.A. House in Tel Aviv on Friday night.

"Superiority Complex"

Mr. Yosef Seirlin, M.K., said too many subserve from a "superiority complex" towards Jews in the Diaspora. The question of whether the Diaspora was a positive thing or not had become a theoretical one. No one knew how long it would exist and indeed, some claimed it would always exist. It was important that Israel serve as a source of cultural and national inspiration for Diaspora Jewry, and especially U.S. Jewry, he said.

Mr. Yigal Allon, M.K., said that no one was entitled to deprive Israel of its right to urge immigration from the U.S. to their children to marry within the Jewish faith.

B-G Heads Mapai Elections Committee

TEL AVIV. — The Mapai Secretariat on Friday entrusted a six-man committee headed by Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion with the task of establishing the party's Elections Bureau. The other members of the committee are the Finance Minister, Mr. Levi Eshkol, the Histadrut Secretary-General, Mr. Pinhas Sapir, and Mr. Josephine, Mr. Anshel Reis, of the W.J.C. Israel Executive; Mr. Murray Greenfield, Director of the Association of American Settlements; Mr. Shlomo Lonzampach-Detschena, Belozirot.

After terminating your passport and customs formalities and before proceeding to the duty-free shop, go to the Exit Hall. Only foreign currency accepted. (Advt.)

ARRIVALS

Mo. A. Goldberg, General Manager of Fertilizers and Chemicals, from a business trip in France, England and Germany, (by El Al).

Aluf M. Shamir, General Manager of the Israel Phosphate Co., from an international conference on phosphates held in Paris, (by El Al).

Miss Anna Sokolow, the choreographer, is here for the first time before the dance troupe's departure for a U.S. tour, as well as to mount ballets for the Israel Opera, (by El Al).

Rabbi Mordechai Nurock, M.K., from South Africa, (by El Al).

Mo. Avraham Shemesh, from Mo. Peles, conference of the World Peace Movement, (by El Al).

Mr. A. Leibson of the Ministry of Labour, from Paris where he visited French industrial equipment plants, (by El Al).

DEPARTURES

Mo. H. Hamacher, P. Marx and Dr. S. Karpf, from the West German Delegation to Moscow, after a fortnight's visit as guests of the Ministry of Finance, (by El Al).

ATTENTION VISITORS AND ISRAELI TRAVELLERS

Save money and buy famous French perfumes: Dior, Joy, Chanel, Perfume, Balmain, Ma République, Marie, Nina Ricci, Santal, Sheherazade, Lancome, Dettolene, Belodior.

After terminating your passport and customs formalities and before proceeding to the duty-free shop, go to the Exit Hall. Only foreign currency accepted. (Advt.)

Suspected Swindlers Out on Bail

PETAH TIKVA. — Haim Gorlick, the former manager of the Nahariya branch of the Palestine-British Bank, who is suspected of forging cheques and maintaining false books, was on Friday released in IL10,000 bail. His alleged accomplice, Matitiahu Weitz, the bank's cashier, was released in IL3,000 bail.

THE BRITH MILAH

of his son of Elaine and Morton Berman will take place on Tuesday, June 2, 1958, at 11 a.m. at the Hadassah Maternity Hospital, Jerusalem.

ALL FRIENDS CORDIALLY INVITED

To our Chairman

Mr. U. SHALON

Heartiest Congratulations

on his 60th birthday and sincere good wishes for a long, active and happy life.

The Israel-America Friendship League, Haifa Branch.

With deepest sorrow we announce the sudden death of our beloved mother, grandmother and great-grandmother

Helene Stein née Duschinsky

in the 91st year of her life.

George and Margaret Stein, Larchmont, N.Y.

Nathan and Margit Koren, Jerusalem

Alfred and Mary Stein, Bangkok

All grandchildren and great-grandchildren

With deepest sorrow we announce the untimely death of our beloved son, father and brother taken from us after a grave illness at the age of 47.

JOHN (YEHUDA) BLASBALG

The funeral will leave the Rambam Hospital, Haifa, today, May 31, 1958 at 1.30 p.m.

The bereaved families Blasbalg, Lissauer, Morros, Kessler

Kindly refrain from condolence visits.

TO MIKY AND TOMMY,
THE NAVON AND BLASBALG FAMILIES

We mourn the untimely death of your beloved

JONNY

Manager and Member of the Board of Directors Chemical Works Dr. W. Weigert, Haifa.

Reuven Weigert, Dalia Gideon Weigert, Jerusalem Benjamin Weigert, Shuval and families.

S. American Jewry Invested $370m.

Jerusalem Post Staff

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

Jewish Congress, the Association of Americans and

Canadians in Israel and

municipalities and local

councils.

The promotion of the better understanding of U.S.

Israel over the weekend, on the occasion of "American

Executive of the World

THE JERUSALEM POST

Founded as The Palestine Post in 1920. Published daily except Saturday in English by The Palestine Post Ltd. Registered at the G.P.O. Copyright of all material reserved; reproduction permitted only by arrangement.

Editorial Office and Management
9 Rehov Hahavatzel, Jerusalem
P.O. Box 81, Tel. 4238 (4 lines)

TELE AVIV Bureau: 55 Naharayim, P.O.B. 1125, Tel. 645512
HAIFA Bureau: 94 Rehov Herzl, P.O.B. 4500, Tel. 4594 (2 lines). Annual Subscription: ILA2.

SUNDAY, May 31, 1959
25 Sheqalim — 24 Shillukas, 1959

ANTI-SEMITISM is no longer confused with anti-Zionism in enlightened Western circles, but this is hardly the case on the "TRUD'" side of the Iron Curtain. Moreover, Israelis are dependent for their information on the state of affairs in Russia on such articles as that which appeared last week in "Trud," organ of the Soviet trade Unions.

In two thousand years of persecution, the Jewish people have cultivated a very sensitive instinct to danger. Jews have learned to detect a threat, where others might see only incongruity. What echoes of anti-Zionism reach us from the area between the Bug and the Kamchatka do not alleviate our fear that a studied campaign is being waged against the idea of Jewishness?

U.S. Bases

It seems to me that the key to all these questions is still the Kremlin's preoccupation with the location of forward American bases. Ever since Stalin's death, Soviet foreign policy has been dominated by the closest objective of consolidating East European conquests and of loosening the ring of alliances and bases surrounding the Soviet bloc. The first has required both reforms and ruthless repression; it also requires the recognition of the diplomatic recognition of the East German regime, and of the Soviet sphere in Europe generally. The second has produced the ever-repeated attempts to flatter or frighten the existing allies of the West, notably, and also the efforts to encourage the Asian neutrals by cautious diplomacy and economic aid, to stay uncommitted.

If this is true, it follows that the Soviet effort to "end

Jews all over the world tend to evaluate their relations with the peoples and the authorities of the lands in which they reside in the light of the prevalence of anti-Semitism. It is generally felt that rabid anti-Semites have only an insignificant influence on Government and public opinion in present-day Europe and America. The anti-Jewishness drive which we believe is currently being conducted in Soviet Russia may not have originated with rabid anti-Semites who found their way into government, but may be inspired by a rational desire to "solve" the "Jewish question" once and for all. In any case, the effects of such a drive on a population with a strong residue of anti-Semitism dating from Czarist times cannot fail to assume major proportions. If there is little to substantiate such fears at present, the sad experience of Jewish history can yet provide a formidable warning.

One can sympathize with the reasoning of Communist leaders who feel they must eliminate the "Jewish question." The fact that Jews live in Russia as a distinct and separate group in a population in which individualism is not only scorned but regarded as a challenge to authority. The Jews, according to Soviet dogma, have been given every chance to become as Russian as the Russians. If they have not it is their own fault. Their "unassimilability" sets a bad example for other "unassimilables" and they accordingly must be pressured out of existence.

Well-meaning Russians say that if the Jews had only insisted openly and firmly on their rights of free worship and language, they would have gained them. The whole pattern of Jewish life in the Soviet Union has probably sunk to the level of tragedy because there were very few Jews who dared to demand freedom for their people, knowing full well what the reward of opposition is in a regime which does not brook opposition. A man who is afraid is a man who is in the wrong. To Russians of the new generation who may not have been raised on the Czarist brand of anti-Semitism, Jews are nevertheless wrong because they never say openly what they want.

If the Soviet Government were to do the improbable and announce that any citizen of Jewish ancestry is free to go to Israel, probably very few would avail themselves of the offer. They would be afraid to register, as they were afraid to ask openly for the right to learn Hebrew, knowing the fate which befell those few who did clamour for that right.

But possibly the threat hanging over Russia's Jews, which one can only guess at from here, is felt more poignantly there, and for once there would be many who would not fear to register, in the conviction that they have nothing to lose. When Soviet newspapers begin to tell Russian Jews how bad it is in Israel, it is a sure sign that Russian Jews do not feel so well at home.

Khrushchev in Albania

By Richard Lowenthal

Russian Eyes on Iraq

(BERLIN, OFNS) — Mr. Khrushchev's 12-day visit to Albania is causing a great deal of puzzlement in the West. Why, it is asked, should he have chosen the moment when the Soviet Union is deadlocked at Geneva to invade the Mediterranean? He may intend to use this platform for launching another of his characteristic combinations of offers and threats thus providing the "blast of fire" which he needs in the study Geneva conference rooms. He may also once again deliberately turn his back on the area of stagnation, Central Europe, in order to deal with the problems of democratic change and movement in the Middle East.

While we await the answer, the visit furnishes good occasion for clearing our minds about the underlying wider problem—that of the Kremlin's present order of things in foreign policy. Just how important do we rate Mr. Khrushchev's desire for a final diplomatic consolidation of Stalin's East European conquests and for a summit meeting that would end tensions on the basis of mutual recognition? How much, on the other hand, is he prepared to risk in order to exploit the momentum of his recent gains in the Middle East?

How far is he dominated by considerations of the military balance of power between East and West, while again continuing his efforts in the direction of independent neutrals like President Nasser and how quickly is he prepared to push the ideological advance of Communism, even at the price of antagonizing such neutrals?

U.S. Bases

It seems to me that the key to all these questions is still the Kremlin's preoccupation with the location of forward American bases. Ever since Stalin's death, Soviet foreign policy has been dominated by the closest objective of consolidating East European conquests and of loosening the ring of alliances and bases surrounding the Soviet bloc. The first has required both reforms and ruthless repression; it also requires the recognition of the diplomatic recognition of the East German regime, and of the Soviet sphere in Europe generally. The second has produced the ever-repeated attempts to flatter or frighten the existing allies of the West, notably, and also the efforts to encourage the Asian neutrals by cautious diplomacy and economic aid, to stay uncommitted.

If this is true, it follows that the Soviet effort to "end

MUSICAL DIARY

Stern Plays Down

Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, Tenth Special Subscription Concert, Eugene Ormandy, conductor. Last night, violin: Max Aszkenasy, piano: Menahem Pressler. Lenora Overture No. 2; Chausson's "Poème," for violin and orchestra; Bruch Violin Concerto in G minor; Brahms' Symphonies Nos. 1 and 2.

We were a little disappointed in the choice of the two violin works as a comeback introduction of Ida Stern. Not that they do not suit her; but her playing is a violin master's touch, any work becomes solid gold; but we feel that a more provocative work would have given much more joy to all concerned.

Mr. Stern belongs to the category of artists whose music only a few are appreciating; therefore, she could have dictated the choice of something more interesting.

In the symphonic works (already reviewed) the orchestra again developed splendour and tonal luxury under Mr. Ormandy's energetic lead.

Ricci in Haifa

The Haifa Symphony Orchestra, George Solti, conductor. Ricci, violin; Arthur Hall, May 27. Weber: Overture to "Oberon"; Paganini: Concerto in D major for violin and orchestra; Tchaikovsky: Concerto in D major for violin and orchestra.

AIKE all great violinists have their own ideal of sound besides a universal musical personality. His tone shimmers and sparkles and his cadenzas and passages are fired away like lightning firework. While listening to Paganini Concerto I imagined Paganini himself peering over the artist's shoulder and enjoying the super-human skill and flexibility with which the artist mastered the fresh difficulties of this composition. Controlled emotion and the same virtuosity were displayed in the Tchaikovsky concerto.

The enlarged orchestra, led by Mr. Parnes, was inspired by the soloist's animated performance and outdid itself under Mr. Singer's baton. Singer has a commanding personality and whatever he conducts, Weber, Paganini and Tchaikovsky being three of the greatest violinists in the world, were superbly interpreted. The audience is thankful for every effort in this musical field.

Israel Works

First concert of works by Israeli composers—sponsored by the League of Composers and the Municipal Corporation of Tel Aviv-Jaffa, Department of Education.

An end to summer heat! Install it in your window

Vent-Axia

Famous British Window-Fan — now also in Israel.
INDUSTRIAL ZONE • RAMAT GAN. Tel. 71933

the cold war" by Western acceptance of the status quo of Soviet conquest is still important, but that it takes place along with the at least equally important campaign to prevent the installation of Soviet missile bases in the Mediterranean. He may intend to use this platform for launching another of his characteristic combinations of offers and threats thus providing the "blast of fire" which he needs in the study Geneva conference rooms. He may also once again deliberately turn his back on the area of stagnation, Central Europe, in order to deal with the problems of democratic change and movement in the Middle East.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran.

It follows that Mr. Khrushchev has in all probability advised the Iraqi Communists to go slow in pressing their claims for open control of the Government, and that their recently increased control of the air force, strengthening the conflict with Nasser and of discouraging the non-Communist neutrals in Iran

lts

thought he took anything.
everyone,
ructed.
left furni-ments?" he banana
of water in the
be left off it to must go ough or listened
the Proevery opped ugh the micro-farmers showed construcsmall erves as rich soil

lamation in this or feels.
use not ed with lands,
t needed
city that condition,
ken less ents, suits
to them being e poorly illed the
the Pro-
ou who Land of in
And in boy the ld sense
ople.

DS
Via Mar-ly, would with pen ossible in

I
ntries

ND

ers

8

Post

TION
rice
9
18 el.

lem.

min;